 Brief Analysis
Part of a series: Militia Spotlight \(https://www.washingtoninstitute.org/policy-analysis/series/militia-spotlight\)
or see Part 1: How to Use Militia Spotlight \(/policy-analysis/how-use-militia-spotlight\)

Militia Spotlight presents a regularly updated tracker with the best-known information about drone, rocket, and missile attacks against U.S. and allied targets, which have intensified since the Gaza war broke out.

The table below is primarily a tally of attack claims by the Islamic Resistance in Iraq \(/node/18416\) (IRI) since it emerged on October 18, 2023, with an increasing mix of claims by emergent groups and unclaimed attacks since October 26. (The "Islamic Resistance" is not a group itself, but a collective mechanism to claim attacks by existing U.S.-designated Foreign Terrorist Organizations such as Kataib Hezbollah \(/node/16641\), Asaib Ahl al-Haq \(/node/16715\), Harakat Hezbollah al-Nujaba \(/node/16716\), and non-sanctioned groups such as Kataib Sayyid al-Shuhada \(/node/16731\).)

The table went through an extensive scrub on November 12, resulting in some presentational changes and reordering. Some duplicate and fake IRI claims were removed, with markers left to show where this occurred.

Overall, IRI claims are still quite reliable indicators of real attacks, but on some occasions the brand has issued detailed claims for attacks that did not occur. One sub-brand with two claims—the Islamic Resistance in Iraq-Dhafireen Group—has been left in the dataset because the information may be useful later even if the claimant seems unreliable. This all suggests a high but imperfect level of coordination and communication between groups using the IRI brand.

Some attacks in Iraq and Syria since October have not been claimed, most likely because they represent instances in which Iran-linked Syrian Arab militias (e.g., the Sons of Jazira and Euphrates (Furat) Movement (/node/18441)) targeted bases run by the Syrian Democratic Forces (SDF). Strikes on Israel have been retained in the table but excised from the serial numbering to keep the count focused on attacks against U.S. sites in Syria and Iraq. These steps should partially close the gap between Militia Spotlight's numbers and those issued by the U.S. Defense Department, though we may still count slightly differently (e.g., Militia Spotlight counts all attempted attacks, successful or otherwise).

182	Feb 4	Omar, Syria	The Islamic Resistance in Iraq War Media (new)	Unspecified drones	Some reporting suggests six Syrian Democratic Forces (SDF) special forces killed and numerous wounded, perhaps a deliberate lethal attack on non-Americans collocated near US troops in the coalition complex in the Omar oilfield. IRI claimed this as an attack on "a U.S. base".
181	Feb 3	Kharab al-Jir/Rmelan Air Base, Syria	The Islamic Resistance in Iraq War Media (new)	Unspecified drones	Unusual drone attack on Kharab al-Jir. Usually this is struck by rockets fired from within Iraq's Nineveh province. This may indicate new Iraqi sensitivity about any attack launched in Iraq, even against targets in Syria.
	Feb 3	Harir, Iraq	The Islamic Resistance in Iraq War Media (new)	Unspecified drones	Note the base is vacated. Could this be a re-claim of the Feb 1 disputed Nujaba strike on Harir? No evidence yet of the attack, except a Shahed-101 launch video that cannot be confirmed as tied to this attack. Local authorities said there were no drone impacts or intercepts at the base.

	Jan 30	Kataib Hezbollah declares suspension of attacks
	Jan 30	Poss attack on Harir or Erbil, Iraq	Unknown	Apparent Sammad KAS-04 crash on border of Iraqi Kurdistan	On the afternoon of January 30, a Sammad-type drone came down outside the village of Bibani, near Altun Kupri. There are some reports the drone was conducting a surveillance flight and was downed by ground fire from Peshmerga positions, but wreckage recovered at the crash site (including an explosive warhead) points to a one-way attack drone. The location of the crash suggests the drone was aimed at Erbil or Hair and launched out of the Mamah / Dibis area (where the US struck a Nujaba drone cell in December).
	Jan 29	Kharab al-Jir/Rmelan Air Base, Syria	Unclear, likely Hezbollah Harakat al-Nujaba	10x 122mm Grad rockets in a truck launcher	At approximately 21:30hrs on January 29 (probably a few hours after Qaani's meeting with top militia leaders in Baghdad), Iraqi security forces found a bongo truck-type launch vehicle near Rabia in western Nineveh. The truck was loaded with ten rockets (probably 122mm) and was aimed across the border in the direction of the Rmelan Landing Zone (RLZ). The operators of the truck ran off when the ISF apparently "spotted" the vehicle.
	Jan 29	"Military target in Israel"	The Islamic Resistance in Iraq War Media	Unspecified drones	Unusual lack of even a general indication of target.
